

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A wheel structure includes a support rack having two ends each provided with a roller and a control device. The control device is mounted on the respective end of the support rack and is urged on the roller to reduce the rotational speed of the roller. Thus, the rotational speed of the wheel structure can be efficiently controlled to the optimum state, thereby greatly facilitating a learner or a kid employing the wheel structure.